"We're in this together!!!"
Frank A. Brock

AS COVENANT'S CENTRAL PLAYER, FRANK A. BROCK IS MORE THAN AN ADMINISTRATOR

No one officially knew until the October meeting of the Board of Trustees who would be named as the fourth President of Covenant College.

Rumors and wishes flew all over campus those few days. When the announcement was made in chapel on that Friday, Frank A. Brock and his wife Dottie made their way down the isle to the stage amist a standing ovation. With his wife at his side, Mr. Brock said in reference to his new service to the school, "We're in this together!!!"

As the crowd in the chapel applauded, one of the newest members of the Board asked a student seated next to him, "Are you pleased?"

The college senior stated, "There isn't an unhappy heart in the whole place."

That statement rings true now, just as it did then, and just as it will in years to come.

No matter what season of the year it is, we'll expect to see the Brock's on campus. From hosting the Boards of Trustees and Associates, to planting and watering the flower beds in front of Carter Hall, it can be truely said that the Brock's have their hands in every aspect of the College Life.

Frank Brock can be seen in his office or in the Great Hall, having lunch with administration, staff, faculty and students. You might often catch him in the Academic Building engaged in a discussion on the latest social and political issue of the day. All this is to say that no matter where he goes, Mr. Brock generates excitement about Christian higher education unlike anyone else.

What has happened here with Frank Brock (and what is to happen) will effect Covenant to the same extent which Elvis Presley affected the music industry. Which is why the TARTAN staff has not only dedicated this annual to him, but enthemed it . . .

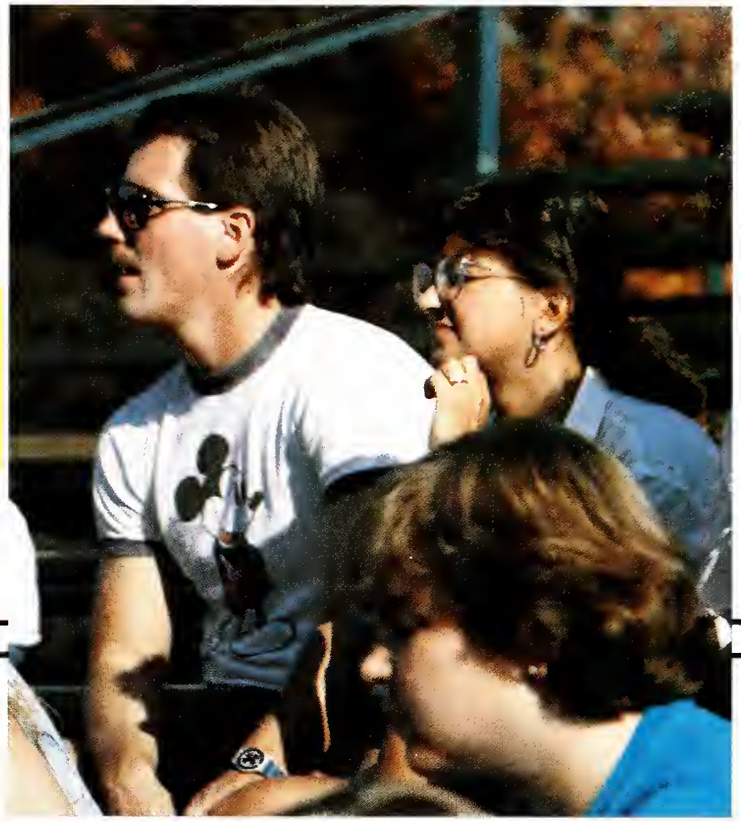
Brock and Roll!!

'A Tradition of Excellence . . .

. . . A Spirit of Friendship.'

"I clean, therefore, I am B.E.S.T." says freshman Kris Warthan.

eg Tessitore ends one of her many term papers; " . . . and they lived appily ever after."



Doug: "Jayne, they just gave that boy a yellow card. Does that mean he gets to go to the front of the lunch line?"

Chad Hafer and Bonnie Brown: "Get a little closer, now don't be shy!"

A Blue Santa Claus?

All students eagerly gather for another chapel message and all eyes are focused upon . . . Trent?

"It tastes like cherry to me."

Impractical Work: Rachel Lambert has to prop up the flagpole on Tuesdays and Thursdays. The other days other people do the job and on weekends it just lays there.

What do guys really talk about in pre-game pep talks? "Well, where do we go for lunch after the game?" "I don't know, we had burgers last week . . ."

John Bates' senior year was a remarkable one. As an R.A., he worked closely with Student Development. They taught him a great deal. For instance, Jane finally taught him to tie his shoes.

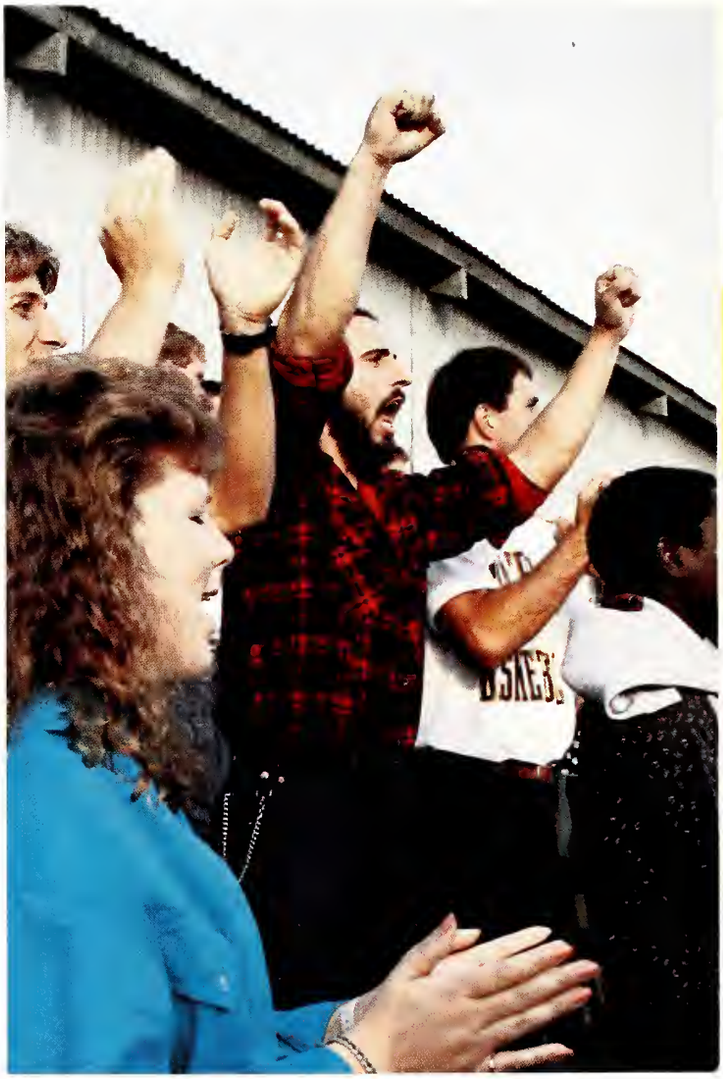
"Dorcas, its not that bad of a joke. See, David's laughing."

"Sweetness in Action."

"Get that camera out of my face or I'll break yours!!" says sophomore Cindy Jorritsma.



Fans in the Stands:
Bill Regitko raises his arms in support of the Covenant Scots soccer team. You can always count on Bill to cheer on the Scots, no matter what sport. As a permanent fixture in the stands, he has greatly enhanced his ability to let the refs know his feelings. Go team!! Go Bill!!

Al: Do you think this is funny, Lyn?
Lyn: No. Do you think this is funny, Bob?
Bob: No. Do you think this is funny, Al?
Al: No.

In case of earthquake, grab person of opposite persuasion and jump under a coat.

"Now [illegible] last time, that color of [illegible] OU!!"

"No Paul, the steering wheel is on the other side!"

"Trip me with you best shot!" exclaims Danny Patterson.

"Laga-haga mugi bagi gonga mucha-mucha?"
"Neegei braba vejui taki-taki."
"Jambo."

"Don't give it to me!!" "Well I don't want it." . . ."

"The game is in the other direction, Jane."

"Your money or your stem!!!!"

Trent Compton and Anne Thompson enjoy a sunny day on the Plaza.

"You said what about my Momma?"

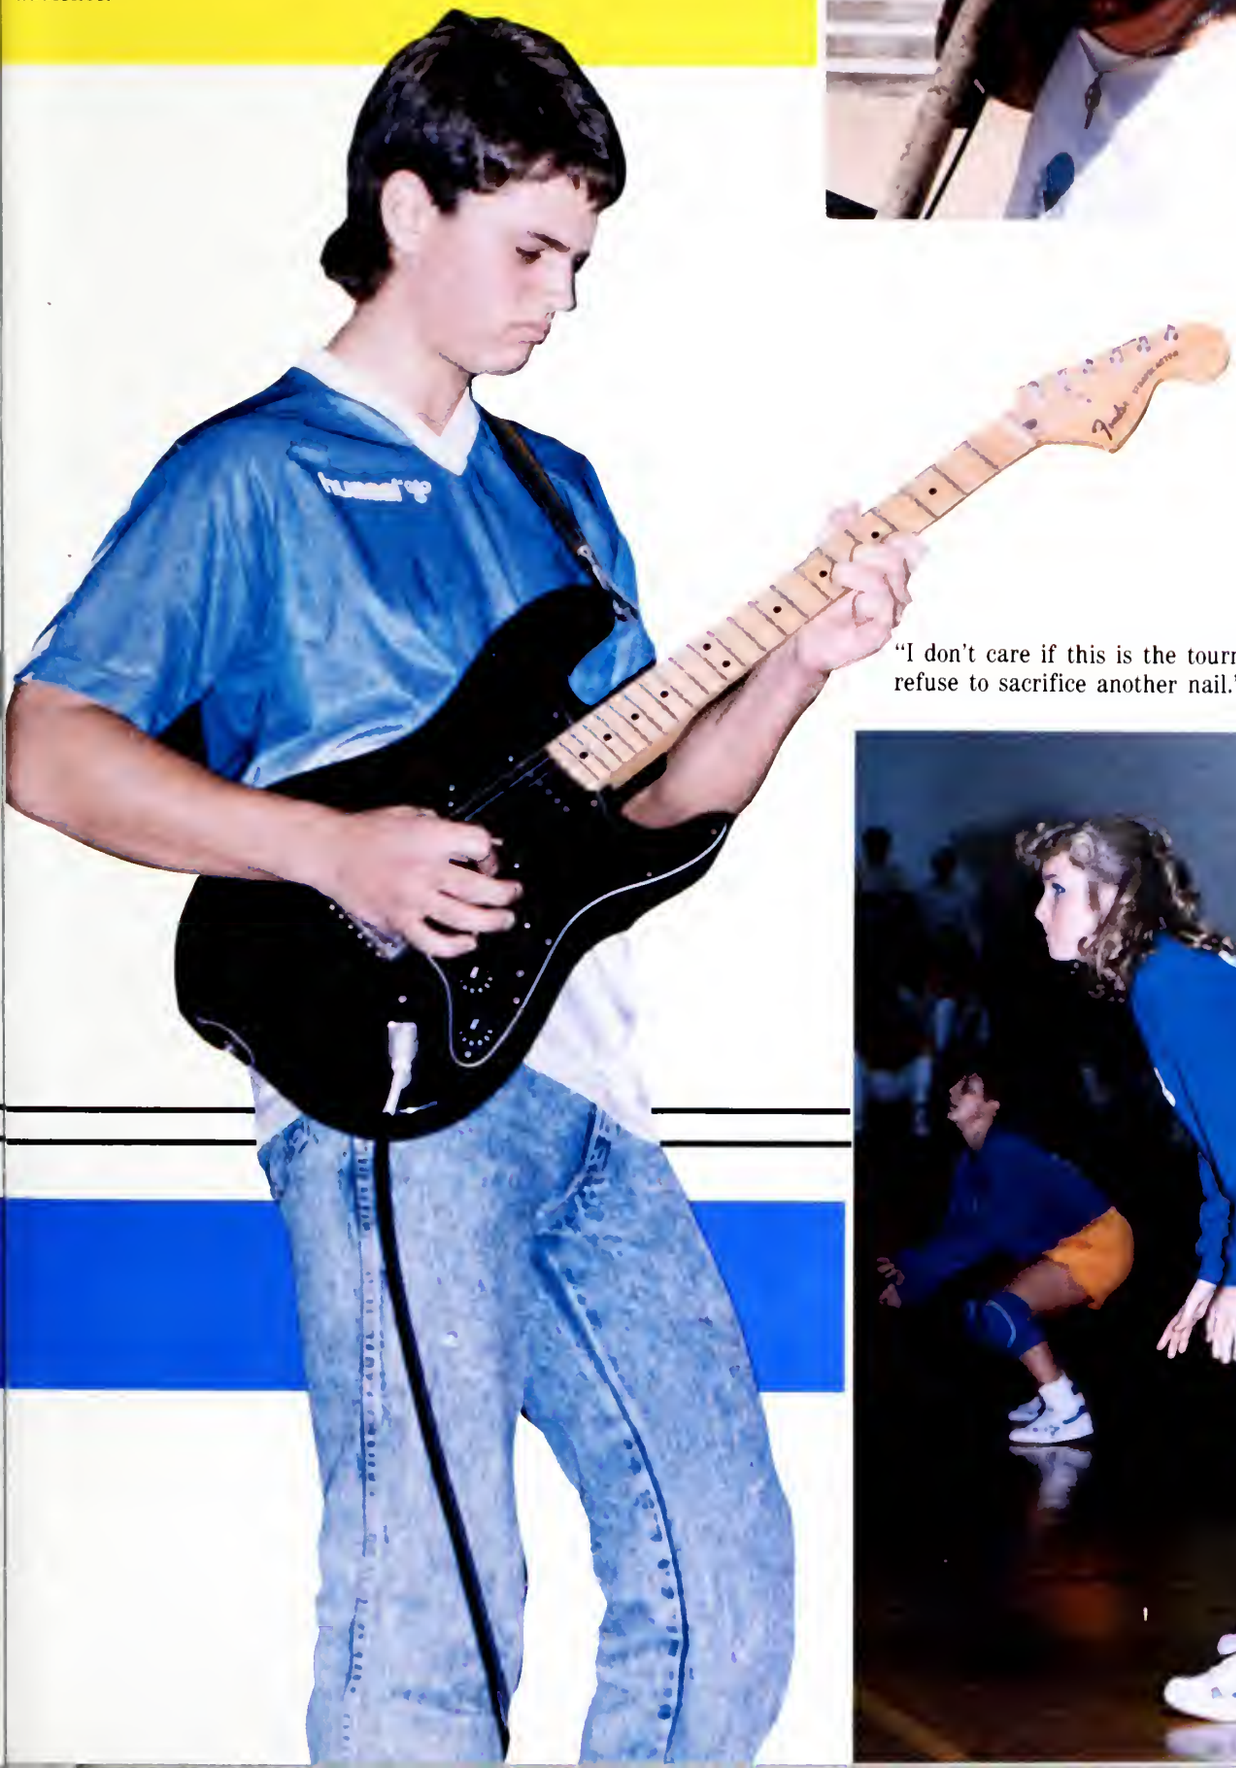
Shawn Lambert takes climbing the ladder of success to heart.

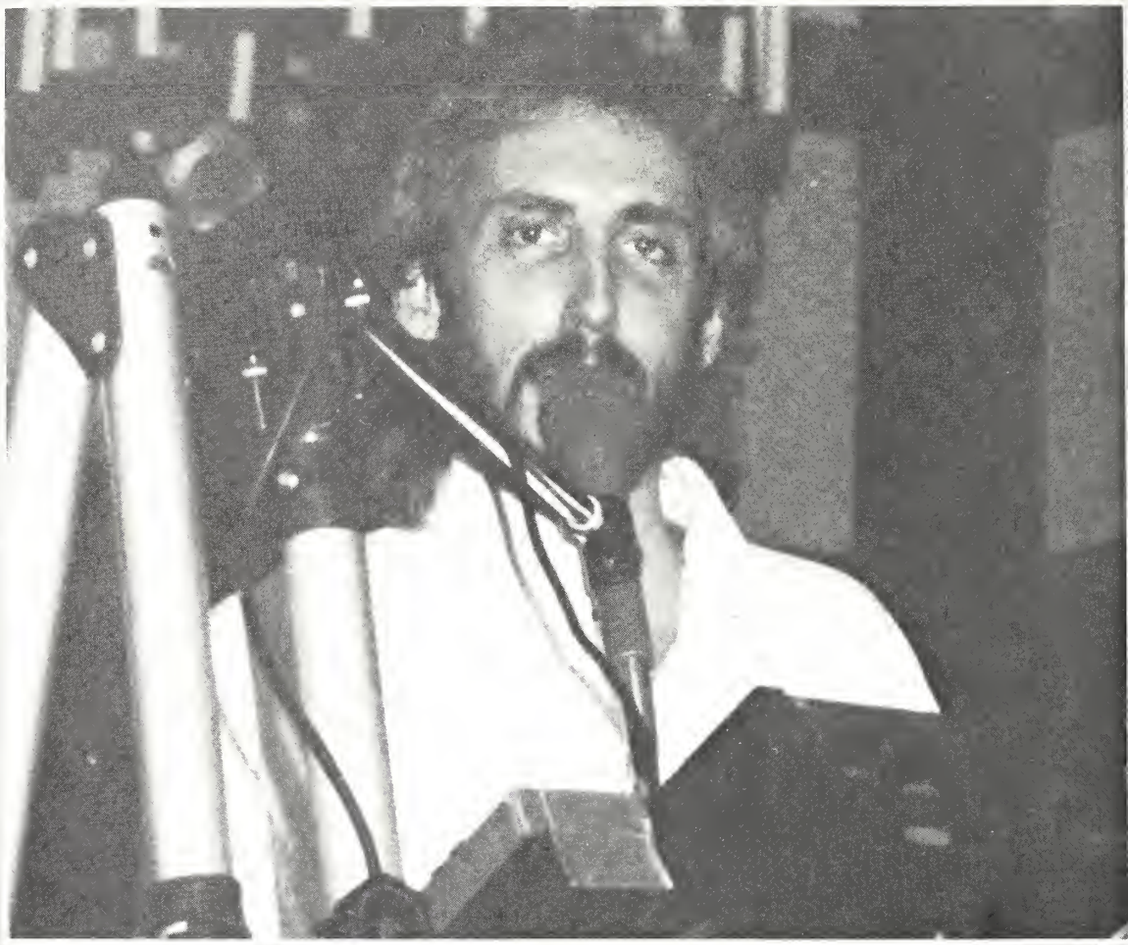
Grandy Streets plays before a Covenant audience.



"I don't care if this is the tournament, I refuse to sacrifice another nail."

Special Events

Stephen Lauren Bigger and Waterfall helped Covenant get their year underway with a great concert. The band's love for music and their love for the Lord were combined for an inspiring concert to welcome us back!! As a composer and performer, Stephen continues to bless the campus with his music.



Right: Stephen Lauren Bigger sings to the glory of God.
Below: Steve Glass' talent adds much to the excitement of the evening.

Wes King

Wes King, another rising contemporary Christian artist, shared his talents with the campus in a concert in the Great Hall. It was a good time of worship and praise as Wes played for the attentive audience. Wes also toured in the area to share his love of music with others. It was also a good time of Christian witness.

Above left: Wes King and friends prepare for their concert.

Randy Stonehill presented an end-of-the year concert on April 23 in the Great Hall. Mark Heard opened with an half-hour program. Both were outstanding musicians and performers.

Stonehill's humor was a highlight of the evening. It was a great way to end the year and a treat to all who attended.

The annual Christmas feast was once again enjoyed by the Covenant Community. This delightful event was, as always, well attended. With tickets going on sale in November, everyone lined up in the chapel, hoping to get a good seat. For those who were fortunate enough to get tickets to this merry event, it was a splendid occasion. The entertainment was grand. Of course they heard our own Madrigal Singers directed by Dr. Hamm. They were also entertained with music from the Brass Choir. Some special music was also provided by Tori Page on the flute. The jesters brought laughter to the guests of all ages, and of course, everyone enjoyed the delicious eight course dinner. The dinners were held on December 3, 4, 5 at 6:30 pm. in the Great Hall. Mr. and Mrs. Bill Higgins presided as Lord and Lady of the feast.

Campus Preview Weekend

Campus Preview Weekend is the time that high school students come to look at our campus. To make their stay fun, as well as informative, we provide activities for them. Thursday kicks off with an Ice Cream Social. Campus clubs set up tables to show visitors what Covenant has to offer. Friday is filled with seminars on majors and classes. Friday night begins with a talent show and concludes with Belz Bash. It is a real highlight of the weekend.

Late Night At Covenant

On April 7th and 8th, Covenant was presented with the best ever "Late Night" production.

This event was the most high-tech production ever seen at the college.

With a live jazz band (Stephen Lauren Bigger and Waterfall) and large screen projection, the whole evening was certainly electrifying.

Both nights, the Great Hall surged with a current of excitement as spectators waited for 'Late Night' to begin.

For approximately 3 hours, the crowd did nothing but sit and laugh and enjoy the show.

Producers Tim Baum and Richard Russell put in many long and 'late nights' in their jobs of directing and producing the whole show. The theme of the night was "Totally Jazzed About It." This night by far outdid all other previous productions of "Late Night at Covenant."

Left: The Newlywed Game

On November 13th, about 150 Covenant students joined in the Great Hall for the Covenant Game Shows. The first priority for the evening was dinner: 80 feet of Subway Subs and then ice cream sundaes. Next came the entertainment, after a Vanna White look-alike contest. Several Covenant students put on our own renditions of Wheel of Fortune, hosted by Chip Frazier and Jenny Shell, and the Newlywed Game, hosted by Chad Hafer. Finally, a group of Make Me Laugh comedians took over the stage. The entire evening was a hilarious event!!

1988 Exam Cram

At the end of each semester we are all faced with those dreaded things called EXAMS!!! To make the week a little more bearable, the faculty, staff and administration serve the students breakfast on Monday night at 10:00 p.m. For the entertainment we had a Covenant ensemble play a variety of tunes for our dining enjoyment! It was a wonderful way to take a study break!!!

"Eight at Eight" was a unique and orginal production. It was produced and directed by our own Jennifer Shell. Jennifer adapted selections from eight of O'Henry's plays and compiled them into one play. The play was performed at 8:00 p.m. on March 25th and 26th. "Eight at Eight" had a rather large cast of characters comprised of many of Covenant's talented students. Each student did a great job and added delight to the play with their own unique talents. "Eight at Eight" was Jennifer Shell's Senior Integration Project. It was obvious that she put a great deal of work into it. Her efforts certainly paid off because "Eight at Eight" was a great success!! Great work, Jenny!!

This year's Spring Banquet was held at the downtown Read House. Everyone dressed up in formal attire and came for a wonderful evening! Dinner was served in the Silver Ballroom. After dinner, we were entertained by the production "A Breath of Spring." This was directed by Kim Nelson and Jenny Barker. The cast included: Jenny Barker, John Bates, Michelle Graham, Alice Levesque, Theron Pettit, Lisa Tabor, Dave Vila and Carla Warren. Much work went into the show and it was truly delightful!

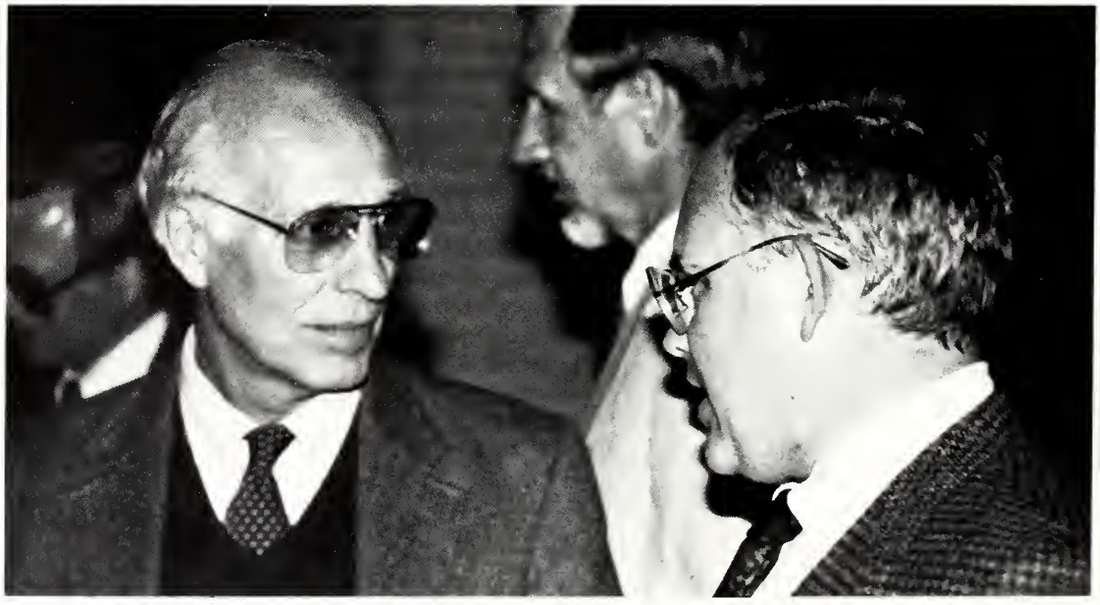
The Sound Of Music

Mr. Mitchell: It was outstanding how they had the supply of good music to meet our demand! Dr. Anderson: How interesting that you incorporate Economics into everything!



The annual Spring Thistle concert was a very special one this year. It was presented as the Inaugural Concert the night before President Brock's Inauguration. Every year members of Covenant's student body along with members of the Chattanooga Symphony join together to bring a unique concert to the Covenant Community. This year's concert featured works by many varied composers. It was a delightful way to spend an evening and an appropriate prelude to the Inauguration.

President Frank Brock was inaugurated as Covenant College's fourth president on April 8, 1988. It was a very special time for the Covenant Community. The inaugural events began with the Spring Thistle concert on April 7. April 8, at 10:00 as the chapel filled and awaited the auspicious occasion, the sound of the traditional bagpipe could be heard coming toward the chapel. As the processional began it was an awesome sight as presidents from other colleges and our own faculty marched down in their robes and caps. The inaugural address entitled "You can make a difference" encouraged Covenant College, as well as visitors to strive to make a difference in our world as Christians. President Brock was installed into his position, with the traditional emblem given to him, as the chapel resounded with a standing ovation. Following the Inaugural Service, students, faculty, family, trustees and visitors had a formal dinner in the Great Hall. The Hall had been beautifully decorated with flowers, crisp linens and smiles. A fine meal was then given to all. It was a time of gladness as President Brock took office. With the college, family and friends behind him, we know that he will do a fine job as the leader of Covenant into the future.

THE WINNERS: Steve Brown, Tim Adams, Chad Dirkse, and Scott Dillon

Covenant's semi-annual golf tournament was held at the Moccasin Bend Golf Course on Saturday, April 23. There were two different flights among the 16 players. Flight A's winner was Steve Brown with Scott Dillon coming in second. In Flight B, Tim Adams holds first place and Chad Dirkse claims the second place position. Awards were also given for the best team effort. It was a great time of fun and relaxation for all the guys to wrap up the year!

1988 Graduation

Graduation 1988 was held on May 7 on the chapel green. The day began with a breakfast for everyone in the Great Hall. Then, commencement began at 10:00. The bagpipe led the procession of the graduates to the chapel green. Three graduates gave their testimony. They were Lansing Hamilton, Bryon Chapin and George Robertson. Dr. Charles Colson gave the address to the graduates on "The Crisis of Character." Everyone was challenged by his charge. Best Wishes to our graduates!

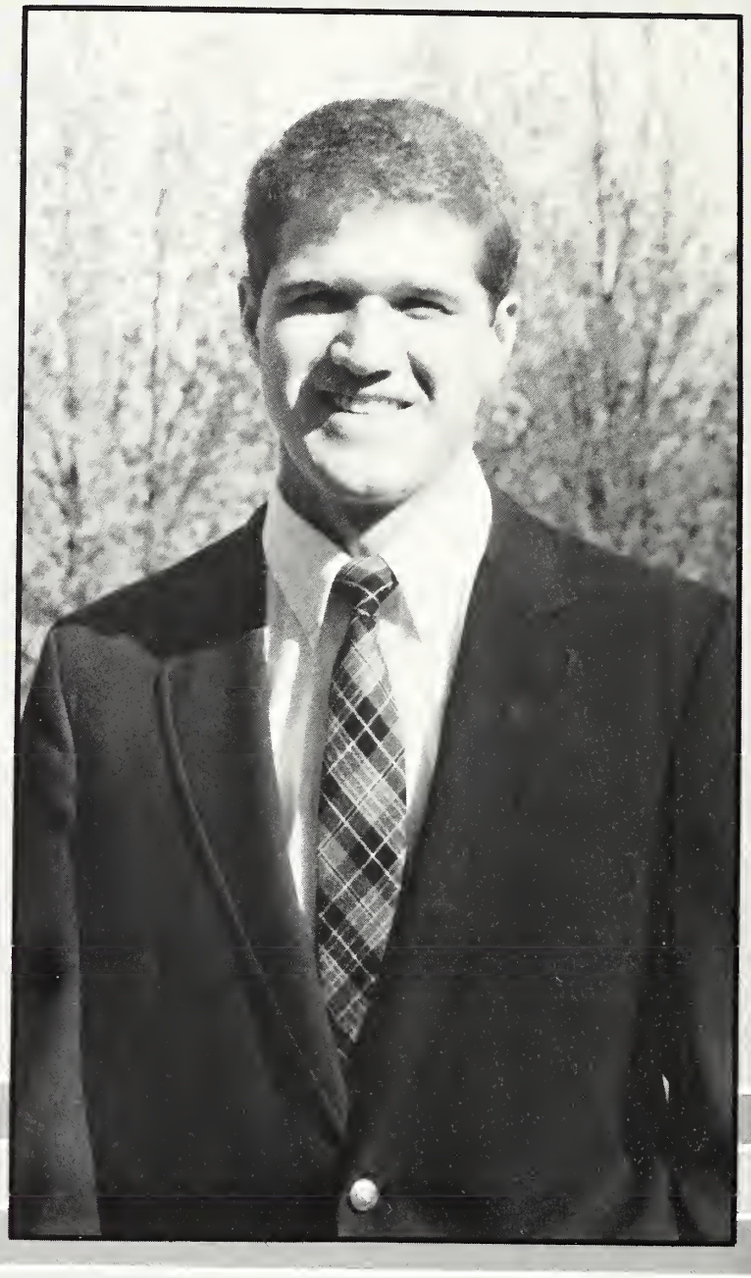
Student Life

The President's Message



You have bestowed on me a great and awesome privilege to serve as the President of the Student Body. We have witnessed together God's unmistakable presence on our campus this year.

The most exciting experience for us was the announcement of Frank Brock as our new President. I am still moved when I listen to the tape of that chapel just as I was when I sat there thinking that Mr. Brock had proved himself far superior to any of the eighty some candidates we had reviewed in the search committee. God has blessed us with a man that we had thought could not exist.

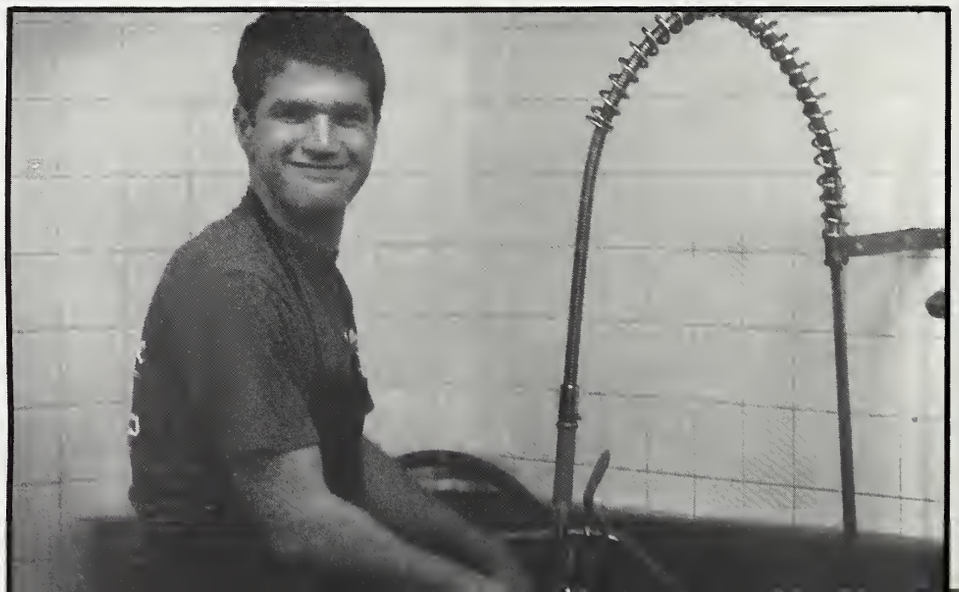
There were also those less glorious times of struggles through issues of food service and chapel music. But what I will always remember about you is that you, the students, were concerned enough to work through the proper channels to make things better.

We have certainly seen the sovereign Spirit of God move on our campus to bring Christians to stronger commitments, to stretch others in new areas of growth, and to even convert some who had never known Christ.

My prayer is that revival would come to our campus, and it will come in this fashion — when you begin to see that the Word of God is directly applicable to your life and you begin to live out what it says.

— George Robertson

Senate President Robertson came through on his campaign promise that if elected, "I'll do the dirtiest job on campus."



The Executive Council

Seated: President George Robertson, Vice-President David Vila. Standing: Secretary Cindy Jorritsma, CAB Chairmen Lee Clark and Brian Hart, and Treasurer Phil Biber.

Off-Campus Ministries

Off Campus Ministries play an important role in the community. Students are involved in many ministries including Nursing home, Prison, various youth groups and organizations, New City's Widows Project and sidewalk counseling. The group chooses Galatians 6:9-10 as their motto. Students join the group because they feel a responsibility to get involved in the work for God's kingdom and they want to share the love of Christ to others.

Chapel

It's 10:00 a.m. on Monday morning — do you know where your roommate is??? He/she probably is in Chapel! Weekdays, students gather in the chapel for the half-hour service. The service consists of music, lectures, small groups, mission emphasis, testimonies, touring groups, community representatives, and famous speakers. All of these are designed to make the campus aware of important events in our world; therefore strengthening our outreach! Special speaker Joni Erikson Tada was a highlight of the year! Her testimony and her challenges were taken to heart by those who attended. She captivated the full house with her stories, songs, and words of wisdom!

Covenant's Varsity Cheerleaders

Covenant sports would not be complete without the help of the Covenant Scots Cheerleaders. They are chosen after auditions are held during the fall semester. Much time is spent in practice before that first performance.

Weekly practices as well as attending all varsity sports activities takes a lot of time. These dedicated young women lead our crowd in its encouraging the players who are on the field and court. These ladies are instrumental in our show of school spirit and are indespensable in cheering our teams on to VICTORY!!!!

'A Reflection'

"Write what you would like about Covenant College . . . in 350 words or less." If the editor had provided ten times that number, it too would be insufficient to express my thoughs. Fifteen years of close association with those who are the College has filled my heart with much awe, gratitude, and love.

Only God really knows the sacrifice made by those through whom the College was given life. What kind of vision would compel parents to send their sons and daughters to a new, unaccredited, small community of Christian educators? Why would faculty, administrators, and staff all work for a small portion of the pay and recognition available elsewhere?

They loved the Lord Jesus Christ! His claim on their lives, their perceptions of the Christian community's needs, and a host of other forces welded our founding visionaries together with a sense of calling that even they can only partially understand today, for what resulted exceeded even their dreams. They sacrificed much; we are the beneficiaries. I am tremendously grateful to God for them.

The twenty-five years that followed the first ten years are no less filled with evidences of God's blessings. The college moved to Chattanooga and who could have envisioned the kindness that would be poured out on us by so many new friends in the community. We were strangers. The faculty taught in the Churches. The students served as baby-sitters and community volunteers. The administrators worked on civic commissions and boards. The Lord used it all to open the hearts of many. Oh, how I praise the Lord for His grace in establishing the strong base of support we now enjoy in the community and the ever growing support of our sponsering denomination.

What of the future? I have never been so optimistic. We have godly leadership with a vision and the commitment to carry it forward. We have an educational thrust the Christian community desperately needs as our culture decays around us. We have alumnus serving our Savior and carrying our message everywhere. The broader Christian community is awakening to the reality that God's hand is on us. We have a clear purpose. Praise God for His mercy, kindness, and bounty. Our future is bright — Christ is with us in our labors!

Sports Staff: Rebecca Baker, Karen Miller.

A special thanks to the editor's roomate, Eric Folbrecht, for putting up with a sometimes disaterous mess in the apartment. His patience was greatly appreciated. (you too, Jeannie!)

And last but not at all least to the staff. A very special thanks for putting up the editor's eccentricities and other inconveniences. Without them, this book would not be possible.
